

One Week Multisensory Reading Program

Rising 1st through 3rd Graders as Students
In a One-Week Summer Teacher Training Program

Could your child use a chance to keep reading and spelling skills fresh this summer or use a boost to prepare for next school year? This one week program will be a great skill sharpener and self-confidence builder!

The Key Learning Center at Carolina Day School offers a nationally accredited Orton-Gillingham Reading Program to train teachers, home-school educators, and tutors in the scientifically research-based approach to reading, writing, and spelling known as Multisensory Structured Language Education. During the training program, teachers have a one-week practice teaching component. This is where your child comes in! The Key Learning Center can use your student to work with these teachers in a “student-teaching experience.”

Children participating in this program will receive 5 one-one lessons in which they will learn 5 new skills. Each student will also be given an individualized informal assessment that will give you information about his or her strengths and weaknesses in reading and spelling. At the end of the week's lessons, the trainee will share a personal progress report with you indicating what skills have been learned, and information about possible further support for your child. All trainees in this program have a bachelor's degree or beyond and are currently teachers, teacher assistants, or tutors. The program is appropriate for rising 1st through 3rd graders, or older students with significant reading challenges.

Dates:

June 24, 2010, 8:00-10:00 – Individualized Informal Assessment

June 28 - July 2, 2010 – 45-minute lesson scheduled between 8:00-10:30 AM daily
(Students must attend every session)

Cost:

$60 – 5 lessons, an individual informal assessment, and a progress report

Contact Information:

Cheryl Scroggs, The Key Learning Center

email: cscroggs@cdschool.org or 274-0757 ext. 417